SUN Tech Offers PMF Industries Apprenticeship Program

By Kay Poeth

Randy Rathfon and Taylor Owens set up a CNC machining center as part of the coursework in the Precision Metalworking program at SUN Area Tech. The pre-apprenticeship program provides on-the-job training where students learn skills in their chosen trade field and have an opportunity to launch their careers.

Students in the Precision Metalworking Program at SUN Area Technical Institute are getting a head-start on job opportunities and the trades by participating in an apprenticeship. During the on-the-job training, students learn skills in their chosen trade field and have an opportunity to launch their careers.

PMF Industries of Williamsport, a Precision Metal Forming company, and Norcen Industries in Jersey Shore, a Precision Machining company, are two (2) of the businesses that are involved in the Central Pennsylvania Apprenticeship Consortium (CPAC) and employing successful graduates for permanent placement. CPAC educational partners are Sun Area Technical Institute, Keystone Central School District, Columbia-Montour Area Vocational Technical, Jersey Shore Area High School, Williamsport Area High School, and CPI Central Pennsylvania Institute of Science and Technology.

According to Sam Shea, PMF human resource manager, students enrolled in the apprenticeship program work full time, eight hours a day. The program also includes one evening a week of educational training in the classroom. It is an innovative way to secure skilled workers to fill positions.

Central Pa Workforce Development Corporation partnered with CPAC and received a $250,000 PAsmart grant. The purpose of the grant is to develop a computer numerical control (CNC) machinist pre-apprenticeship for high school students. It provides funds for equipment and supplies.

At PMF there is a three-year commitment for students to successfully complete the apprenticeship program for the CNC (computer numerical control) machinists. The three-year program includes 2000 hours of paid, on-the-job training (OTJ) per year; 144 hours of classroom instruction (RTI-Related Technical Instruction); and no educational costs for the student. The goal is to retain the skilled apprentices on a permanent basis.

The program is a win-win. The students launch their careers by using skills they learn in a satisfying trade. In turn, businesses have a highly trained workforce.

In the future, the apprenticeship program hopes to expand to other areas of training. Technology is rapidly changing, and up-to-date training is essential for skilled workers. For PMF Industries the program will be expanded into IMT (Industrial Manufacturing Technician) and Tooling Apprenticeships.

As students practice their metalworking skills, instructor Terry Anselmo monitors their progress, offers suggestions, answers questions, provides feedback, and troubleshoots solutions with his students.

The Precision Metalworking program at SUN Tech can provide advanced placement at The Pennsylvania College of Technology, The Harrisburg Community College, and Thaddeus Stevens College of Technology for students who wish to further their machine training. Qualified students can earn up to 15 credits, resulting in substantial savings in the cost of their college education.

Students can also earn NIMS Level I credentials. Precision Metalworking is a SOAR approved program of study with college credits that can be transferred to participating state colleges and universities.

Another option for students is to participate in an apprenticeship to help launch their careers. Upon completion of the state-certified apprenticeship program at PMF Industries or Norcen Industries, apprentices have acquired 3-years of work experience, earned a decent wage, earn a state-certified Journeyman designation, and have no student debt!

"The apprenticeship is a new program here at SUN Tech and we are excited to partner with PMF Industries and Norcen Industries," said Precision Metalworks instructor, Terry Anselmo. "We are now an official pre-apprenticeship program. Students in this class will receive credit of 144 hrs of RTI (Related Technical Instruction) toward a 3-year apprenticeship."

"PMF has hired two graduates from Sun Area Tech's program: Austin Badman, who has completed his Apprenticeship training, the OTJ and the RTI and is now considered a Journey Person; and Nathan Kline, who has recently rejoined PMF and will be enrolled in the Apprenticeship Program," stated Sam Shea. "Sun Area Tech and the other high schools involved in the consortium are key partners in the Pathway that has been created for these students from High School Pre-Apprenticeship learning to Apprenticeship in Industry."

Graduates of the Precision Metalwork Program are in high demand. Many local companies are eager to hire skilled machinists including Brush Industries, Fairfield Manufacturing, QE Manufacturing, Pik Rite, Lozier, Keystone Sporting Arms, Northway Industries, Thermal Products Solutions and Top Notch CNC.

Ribbon Cutting At Beaver Valley Country Store

By Kay Poeth

Recently, Beaver Valley Country Store in Beaver Springs held a Grand Opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony "We want to become the area's 'Hometown Proud' country store!"

On October 21, 2021, Beaver Valley Country Store hosted a Grand Opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony. Under new local ownership as of August 31, Beaver Valley Country Store, formerly Snyder's Market, is a warm and welcoming presence in Beaver Springs. Beaver Valley Country Store LLC is the partnership of four local area residents: Rick Maloyed, Steven Witmer, Aaron Witmer, and John Anthony.

Local residents and family members gathered for the Ribbon Cutting and to welcome Beaver Valley Country Store as a new business to the area. Many local dignitaries including PA Representative David Rowe, Snyder County Commissioners Adam Ewig, Joe Kantz, and Chuck Steininger, and Beaver Springs Trustees were in attendance as well as former owners, the George and Mitzi Saylor. Rev. Matthew Maloyed, Rev. Solomon Shaffer and Rev. James Plank from Beavertown's God's Missionary Church also participated in the ceremony.

Rick Maloyed was choked up with emotion as he introduced the special guests and welcomed everyone to the Grand Opening and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony.

The event kicked off with the Men's Trio performing the National Anthem. Rev. Matt Maloyed offered a prayer and Rev. Solomon Shaffer recited several Scripture readings.

Steven Stumbris, Director of the Bucknell University Small Business Development Center (SBDC) noted, "Maureen Hauck and the SBDC consulting team have been helping business owners of the region like Rick Maloyed in an uninterrupted fashion throughout the pandemic. We are delighted to celebrate this success today." Stumbris also noted that new business start-ups and acquisitions are at a higher rate than ever before. The SBDC is grateful to join with the community to celebrate this new business ownership in the area.

"Small businesses are the undeniable backbone of our communities and our economy, responsible for employing 2.5 million people across the Commonwealth," said PA Representative David Rowe (R-85). "I am excited for the new owners of Beaver Valley Country Store as they embark on this exciting new venture and encourage everyone to stop by support this locally owned small business!"

U.S. Congressman Fred Keller sent a letter on behalf of Pennsylvania's 12th Congressional District congratulating Beaver Valley Country Store "on this important occasion." In the message Congressman Keller commended "businesses across central and northeastern Pennsylvania have shown ingenuity, resourcefulness, and resilience. Small businesses employ half of all Americans and play a vital role in every community."

Ken Kurtz, a retired funeral director and Michigan State Representative, commented that success of Beaver Valley Country Store is "by determination of the owners and staff to fulfill their initial vision of caring for the needs of the community."

Rev. James Plank told the gathered crowd, "We deeply appreciate living in our valley and we are grateful to those business owners who invest in our communities."

Then the owners, guest speakers, and local dignitaries gathered for the Ribbon Cutting Ceremony. "It's great to see a breath of fresh air breathing new life into a local business," said Snyder County Commissioner Adam Ewig.

Maureen Hauck of the SBDC has been working with the owners of Beaver Valley Country Store since May 2020. "They are a great team to work with: we were happy to be involved with the acquisition and offer the consulting services of the SBDC."

Whether coming for your weekly shopping or stopping for grab-and-go items, Beaver Valley Country Store offers a range of goods. The wide aisles make it easy to shop. The overhead labels clearly identify the departments and aisle ingredients. Beaver Valley Country Store features a Bakery, Frozen Foods, Deli, Dairy, Fresh Produce, Meats, and general merchandise. The Dollar Section is a favorite for many shoppers. The store also offers a variety of miscellaneous items.

While shopping you can also fill up your gas tank. There are four pumps at the gas island. There is ample parking and several spaces are reserved for handicapped customers near the entrance to the store.

"We are here to be a community oriented business. We want the store to have a positive impact on our customers and community," explained Maloyed. "We want to become the area's 'Hometown Proud' country store where our motto is 'We value you!'"

Beaver Valley Country Store is located at 19678 Rt. 522 in Beaver Springs. Store hours are Monday-Friday from 8 am- 8 pm and Saturday from 8 am- 7 pm. Closed Sundays. Call 570-658-7281 for information or special orders.

Tips For Safe Teenage Drivers

Annalisa Negrea, RN, BSN, CEN
Injury Prevention Coordinator, UPMC

Getting your driver's license is one of the most exciting life experiences for a teenager. While it's great to have a new sense of freedom, it's important to remember that driving is a privilege and a huge responsibility. National Teen Driver Safety Week is October 17-23 and is the perfect opportunity for parents to remind their teens about the dangers and rules of the road.

Greatest Dangers for Teen Drivers

According to the United States Department of Transportation, the greatest dangers for teen drivers include distracted driving, inconsistent or no seat belt use, speeding, too many passengers, and alcohol. Below are some tips to help avoid them.

Distracted Driving – Only answer a phone call or text message if it is an emergency. Even then, you should pull over to a safe area and to use your cell phone. To help avoid cell phone use, put it in a spot where it is out of sight while driving. If it is being used for navigation on a long car ride, have a passenger be your co-pilot and help with directions. Cell phones are not the only ways in which distracted driving occurs. Be sure to not eat, put on make-up, turn around to talk to passengers, or anything else that shifts your focus away from the road.

Seat Belts – Every time your teenager asks to use the family car, remind them to buckle up as you hand over the keys. Talk with them about the possible risks of not wearing a seat belt including serious injuries, paralysis, and death. Make sure your child knows of the consequences and hold them accountable when they decide to not wear a seat belt. This could mean taking their driving privileges away temporarily. Finally, you are the biggest influence that your teen has. Set the example and consistently wear your seat belt every time you get in a vehicle.

Speeding – Pennsylvania has strict speeding laws for those with Junior Licenses. If a teen driver is convicted of a single high-speed violation (exceeding 26 miles per hour) or gets 6 or more points, the license will be revoked for 90 days. More importantly, your teenager would be putting themselves at a high level of danger by not following the speed limit. Unexpected hazards can occur at any time and going too fast gives the driver less time to react.

Too Many Passengers – In addition to cell phones, having too many passengers in your teen's vehicle can be a huge distraction while driving. Junior Licenses only allow one non-family member with them in the car to help avoid this. Friends could pressure your driver to try maneuvers that they are uncomfortable with or drive more aggressively in general. Remind your teen that they are the one in control of their vehicle and will be the ultimate person responsible if anything bad were to happen.

Alcohol – Unfortunately, even precautions such as minimum legal drinking age and zero tolerance laws in place, teen drinking and driving still occurs. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), teen drivers are at much greater risk of crashing after drinking alcohol than adult drivers. No matter what, make sure your teen has a safe way to get home if their driver has been drinking.

Dialogue between parents and their teenagers about the ways they should stay safe behind the wheel needs to remain open all year round, not just during National Teen Driver Safety Week. A final practice to sum up all the ways in which teens can drive safely is to write a pledge and have your teen commit to it with their signature. This instills the high level of responsibility that comes with driving and reminds them of the possible consequences of driving dangers.

Judge Lori Hackenberg's Message to Union and Snyder County Voters

Dear Union & Snyder County Voters,

During this campaign, you've heard from many local community, business, and legal leaders who support my candidacy; but I believe it's important that you hear directly from me before you cast your vote on Tuesday.

Over many years, I've built a reputation as a respected community member, an accomplished attorney, and an exemplary District Judge. I'm proud of my reputation as a conservative judge who is fair and impartial, follows the law as written, and does not legislate from the bench. I will bring this conservative judicial philosophy with me to the Court of Common Pleas bench.

For the past 9 years, I've served as a Magisterial District Judge in Snyder County. I also already serve in the Court of Common Pleas in both Union and Snyder Counties as a judicial team member of the Treatment Court.

As this race comes to a close, it's important to note that the Code of Judicial Conduct requires candidates for judicial office to conduct themselves with civility and in a fashion that is expected of judges once they are serving on the bench. Unlike political offices, the Code holds judicial candidates to a much higher standard.

I've run a campaign in a dignified manner that is expected in judicial races, running on my qualifications, experience, and judicial philosophy. I've refrained from denigrating my opponent in any campaign materials and publications. Unfortunately, my opponent can't say the same.

Throughout this campaign, I've conducted myself with the dignity and integrity this high office demands. I have a proven record of exemplary judicial temperament and legal acumen that is required to serve as Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. I trust that the voters will determine which candidate has the personal and professional qualities needed to be a judge. I ask for your vote on Tuesday, Nov. 2nd.

Sincerely and with best wishes,

Lori Hackenberg

BEDFORD, PORT ROYAL, PATH VALLEY BEAT THE RAIN, THIS WEEKEND STILL SOME RACING LEFT

A total of five race tracks in our region had races planned, but Baps speedway’s scheduled 410-sprint show and the Greenwood valley action track micro-sprint races were both rained out. Greenwood will run their final race of the season this Saturday, while Baps will have one more race on Saturday November 13th for the 410-sprints and spec-Modifieds. Last Saturday Bedford, Port Royal and Path Valley pressed on and ran their racing events.

Port Royal ran their annual Keystone Challenge event for the 305-IMCA sprints, paying the winner $1,500 to win. A super field of 68 drivers signed in for the sprint race, with group time trials, six heat races, three B-Mains to set the 24-car starting field. Two drivers were guaranteed a starting spot Derek Hauck who won a special race at Clinton County in September, and Will Brunson who won the founders cup race last season for non-qualifiers in last year’s race, Brunson needed the spot while Hauck won the fifth heat race getting him into the show. Ohio driver Justin Clark who visits Port Royal speedway a few times a season led all 25-laps to collect the top prize. Derek Hauck gave chase, but settled for a second-place finish, Kevin Nagy was third with the top three drivers from different states, Hauck Pa and Nagy New Jersey. The race was also a track point’s race for the class at Port Royal, with Dave Grube winning the title by 15 over Garrett Bard. Grube won two races during the season, with one win for Bard. Garrett won the IMCA 305 national title last season and placed second to Clark who won 17 features this year. Bard won titles at Clinton County, Selinsgrove and Path Valley this year with a seven-win total. The limited late models had their final point race with Devin Hart taken the championship his second at Port, to go along with this year Selinsgrove limited title. Dillan Stake won the 25lap feature event his second of the season, and winning the last two races has won $1,500 for last Saturday and a $5,000 to win race back in September.

Path Valley ran a five division show last Saturday with Randy Burkholder getting his seventh win of the season and the track championship. Kevin Gutshall won the Wingless Super Sportsman feature and that track title. The race was the last point race for the six divisions that compete at the track during the season. This Saturday Path Valley runs their national events for the six divisions, with Limited late models and Sportsman cars racing for $1,300 to win if at least 15-drivers are on hand to race. The 270 and 600 micros will race for $500 to win while two different classes of four-cylinders race for extra money also. The race will also have a Sunday rain date if Saturday does have weather problems. Saturday start times are gates open at 2pm with warm-ups at 4pm on Sunday it will be gates at Noon and warm-ups at 2pm.

Bedford ran their Keystone Cup for the super late model class with 43-drivers signed in for the weekend racing. Friday night were time trials with two semi-features paying each winner $2,500 to win with the first nine finishers in those two races in the starting field. Jeff Rine with a tribute number F-100 to honor Bob Elbin who just passed away, won a semi-race on Friday along with Mason Zeigler who was honoring his brother with the number 9Z on his car also winning a semi race. Max Blair of Centerville won the 60-lap feature and the $25,000 prize for the feature win; it was his first ever win at Bedford and his 20th win of the season. Blair is the ULMS series champion for the 2021 season. Jeff Rine was second in the race and is the Bedford speedway track champion for the 2021 season. Robbie Black went on to win the late model sportsman feature which was part of the weekend action. The two-day show became a three day show with the semi-late and four-cylinder feature raced on Sunday with rain stopping the Friday night show before it was complete.

Racing also this weekend is the Slingshot Nationals at Linda’s speedway near Jonestown, Pa., for three days of racing for the All-Star and Junior Slingshot racers. Five races will be run over the three days with One feature each on Friday, two races on Saturday and one final event on Sunday.

This weekend with a bit of a travel is the racing at Georgetown speedway which will have super late models, Modifieds, Rush Crate late models and other support classes in action. The track is racing the Short Track Super Series for the Modifieds, with the super racing for a $5,000 to win base purse. The Shuckers Challenge of $50 or $1000 will have the winner of the feature getting $6,000 for the $50 challenge and $7,000 for the $100 Challenge.

Justin Clark Scores Keystone RaceSaver Challenge

Justin Clark capitalized on a pole position starting spot to capture the 10th Annual Keystone RaceSaver Challenge for the Penns Valley MeatMarket 305 Sprint Cars.

The 30-lap feature was Clark’s first career victory at the Speedway and wrapped up the 2021 season for the division.

“I’ve been trying for four years to get a win at this place and I finally got it done,” said Clark. “I can finally say I’m a winner at Port Royal and this is just awesome.”

“It’s been an amazing year and when I got to lapped traffic I didn’t know how much room I had from second,” said Hauck. “I needed that caution there to get clean air, but I’ve got to thank all my guys and my family for getting me to this point.”

For Hauck, he believed he had a car capable of winning but needed more green flag laps.

“If I’m going to take second to anybody, I guess he’s the guy to do it to,” said Hauck. “If it would have stayed green I think we had something for him, but we’ll taker a second and start looking at next year.”

With Grube’s sixth-place finish, he was able to lock up the 2021 Port Royal Speedway Penns Valley Meat Market championship by a margin of 15 points over Bard.

“I needed to just go out and do what I needed to do and keep the car in one piece,” said Grube. ‘This is the toughest part of the country to race in, so to win the championship is an accomplishment and I’m just really happy for my guys.”

Nick Sweigart picked up the Founders Cup non qualifier race victory from the front row. Domenic Melair, Kenny Heffner, Mike Alleman and Roger Irvine rounded out the top five.

Dylan Stake scored his second Port Royal Speedway victory of the season in the Selinsgrove Ford Limited Late Model division, while Devin Hart picked up the series championship title as well.

Stake’s victory was worth $1500 and came from the inside second row starting position.

“I almost got beat earlier in a 25 lapper here earlier and we made sure that didn’t happen again,” said Stake. “I can’t do this alone and this is quite a good way to end the year on.”

For Shoemaker, he felt he had a car capable of winning, but he made a bad choice on what tires to use.

“We put something different on there and we just chose wrong,” said Shoemaker. “But honestly he was just better than us all around.”

While Hart came home third, it was the joy of grabbing a championship after a grueling season that had him grinning ear to ear on the frontstretch.

“We had a really good year, but we kind of fell off a bit at the end of the year,” said Hart. “I haven’t been a round a whole lot during the week due to work, but my guys keep working hard and give me a car capable of running up front every week. I’m just so thankful for everyone involved with this deal and I’m happy to give them a championship for their efforts.”

Adam Campbell won the 4-cylinder feature event after starting form the fourth position. The win was worth $1200 and came by 1.224 seconds over Eric Boozel, A.J Hoffner, Matt Worley and Matt Chronister.

Wildlife On WiFi Program Wins Statewide Award

The Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection recently announced that the Pennsylvania Game Commission's Wildlife on WiFi (WoW) program was the recipient of the statewide award for the Governor's Award for Environmental Excellence.

The award is presented to distinguished collaborative groups who represent state employees' efforts to bring awareness and educate Commonwealth citizens on the environment and natural resources.

The Game Commission launched the WoW online conservation learning program in April 2020, shortly after COVID-19 orders went into effect. The goal was to ensure continuity of the Game Commission's educational and public awareness service during the pandemic, but WoW has been so successful, it is now a permanent program that has been nationally recognized. WoW provides educators, students, parents, and high-risk health communities, as well as general audiences, with home-based conservation and wildlife science education that includes lessons and activities, live virtual sessions, field researcher webinars, and social media games.

"With the unprecedented challenges facing parents and educators during COVID-19, we launched Wildlife on WiFi with the vision of connecting Pennsylvanians with their state's wildlife from anywhere," said Lauren Ferreri, Game Commission Biological & Visitor Manager of the Middle Creek Wildlife Management Area. "We're honored by the program's recognition and encourage everyone to explore WoW's online resources and lessons."

The popularity of the initial campaign has made WoW a valuable addition to the Game Commission's wildlife-education toolbox. "Not everyone has been on a State Game Lands, at one of our region offices or visitor centers, or has spoken with a game warden," said Steve Smith, Game Commission Information and Education Bureau Director. "WoW enables the Game Commission to connect every Pennsylvania resident to our state's conservation heritage and wildlife, no matter where they are and in a variety of content formats."

Game Commission Executive Director Bryan Burhans said he is proud of the staff who made this innovative program possible. "Wildlife on WiFi provides at-home learning resources and 'virtual field trip' opportunities for educators, students and wildlife enthusiasts," he said. "Kudos to the staff who made this possible." WoW tailors content to different age levels and audiences, and provides access through the Game Commission's website www.pgc.pa.gov and Facebook page.

Fall Turkey Season To Begin

Pennsylvania's fall turkey season kicks off Saturday, Oct. 30 in 19 of Pennsylvania's 23 Wildlife Management Units (WMUs), and there's reason for hunters to be excited.

Turkey reproduction was well above average this past summer, translating to above average fall flock sizes that are worth pursuing.

Hunters should take note the 2021 fall turkey season is shorter in 14 WMUs. There is no fall season in WMUs 5A, 5C or 5D. Shotguns, archery tackle, or muzzleloading firearms are the only lawful implements that may be used. Centerfire and rimfire rifles are no longer permitted for fall turkey hunting. Where fall turkey seasons are held, season lengths vary by WMU. Hunters are advised the three-day Thanksgiving season will be held only in four WMUs this year, WMUs 2B, 2C, 2D and 2E, and, like last year, the season will run the Wednesday before Thanksgiving, Thanksgiving Day and the Friday after Thanksgiving.

Fall turkey season lengths are as follows: WMUs 1A, 1B, 4A, 4B, 4D and 4E – Oct. 30-Nov. 6; WMU 2B (Shotgun and bow and arrow only) – Oct. 30-Nov. 19 and Nov. 24-26; WMUs 2C, 2D and 2E – Oct. 30-Nov. 13 and Nov. 24-26; WMUs 2A, 2F, 2G, 2H, 3A, 3B, 3C, 3D and 4C – Oct. 30-Nov. 13; and WMU 5B – Nov. 2-4.

While fall turkey hunters no longer are required to wear fluorescent orange, the Game Commission highly recommends the use of orange when not required, especially while moving.

Fall turkey hunting

Statewide in recent years, Pennsylvania fall harvests have been declining due to shorter seasons, fewer hunters, smaller fall flocks and varying mast crops. Last fall, the turkey harvest was estimated at 8,500, which was 8% less than the 2019 estimate of 9,000.

Meanwhile, the number of fall turkey hunters increased to an estimated 100,100 in 2020, up from an estimated 95,800.

Fall turkey hunter success in 2020 was 8.4%, similar to the previous three-year average of 8.7% and a slight decrease from the previous 10-year average of 9.3%.

Season outlook

Field reports of oak mast production vary greatly across the state, ranging from acorn scarcity in some areas, average crops in others, and bumper crops in many places. Find the acorns and you'll likely find turkeys.

In areas where acorns are scarce, hunters are encouraged to cover a lot of ground to find flocks that likely will concentrate around available food sources. In areas where mast is abundant, hunters are encouraged to scout to determine turkey movement patterns, as turkey flocks will wander more where food is abundant.

Currently turkey densities are below management goal in 15 of 23 WMUs. This trend has been observed across much of the species' range besides Pennsylvania.

It is believed the Brood X cicada hatch in most of southern Pennsylvania, coupled with relatively warm and dry late spring weather across most of the state, resulted in average to above average poult survival this past summer in 19 of the 23 WMUs. The 12 WMUs with above average recruitment are projected to hold larger than average flocks this fall. There are fall turkey seasons in nine of these WMUs (WMUs 1B, 2A, 2C, 2G, 2H, 3D, 4A, 4B, and 4D).

Harvests and reporting

Successful fall turkey hunters must tag their birds according to instructions provided on the printed harvest tags supplied with their licenses, then report harvests.

Mentored hunters under the age of 7 may receive by transfer a fall turkey tag supplied by their mentor.

The turkey must be tagged immediately after harvest and before the turkey is moved, and the tag must be securely attached to a leg until the bird is prepared for consumption or mounting.

Within 10 days of harvest (five days for mentored hunters), turkey hunters must report harvests to the Game Commission, either by going online at HuntFishPA, or the Game Commission's website, www.pgc.pa.gov, calling toll-free or mailing in a prepaid post card.

Hunters reporting their turkey harvests over the telephone can call 1-800-838-4431. Hunters will need to have their license and their copy of the harvest tag in front of them when they make the call.

All hunters reporting harvests are asked to identify the WMU, county and township where the bird was taken.

Additionally, hunters may harvest a turkey that has been leg-banded for research purposes, and if so, they also should follow the instructions on the band. The Game Commission leg-banded 479 turkeys last winter in a continuing effort to determine spring harvest rates and annual survival rates by WMU, tracking turkey populations.

West Nile virus research

The Game Commission's 2019 experimental West Nile virus inoculation study, in cooperation with the Southeastern Cooperative Wildlife Disease Study, Department of Population Health at the University of Georgia (UGA), the National Wild Turkey Federation and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, investigated the susceptibility of wild turkey poults and bobwhite quail chicks to WNV infection, and subsequent survival.

The Game Commission collected wild turkey eggs throughout Pennsylvania that were hatched at the UGA. And day-old quail chicks were purchased from a reputable hatchery.

UGA researchers inoculated two age classes (6 weeks old and 16 weeks old) of the wild turkey poults and bobwhite quail chicks with WNV or a placebo, and monitored them for clinical signs over two weeks. No birds died or showed clinical signs of WNV infection. Results showed wild turkey poults and bobwhite quail chicks are not highly susceptible to experimental WNV infection and likely do not serve as a reservoir host for mosquito transmission of WNV to other species.

The study also is testing fall harvested wild turkeys for WNV antibodies, which would signify a bird survived infection. Thus far during this three-year study, the percentage of individual turkeys with antibodies to WNV is higher than highly susceptible species, like the greater sage-grouse, suggesting turkeys are surviving infection.

Fall harvested wild turkey blood samples will continue in 2021 from Pennsylvania and several other states to add to the overall sample analysis, which will consider both demographic and environmental factors of the birds and regions sampled.

Selinsgrove Hosts Literacy Under the Lights!

By Kay Poeth

On October 8, 2021, Selinsgrove Area School District hosted Literacy Under the Lights at Selinsgrove's Harold L. Bolig Memorial Stadium. It was an exciting way to celebrate literacy, books, and reading!

On October 8, students and their families enjoyed a beautiful fall evening filled with reading as part of the Literacy Under the Lights event hosted at Selinsgrove's Harold L. Bolig Memorial Stadium. The premise of the family literacy event is that "Kids who read, succeed!" The goal was to encourage families to read together and to foster school and family connections. In addition, reading tips were shared with parents to support their children at home. Reading is a lifetime skill not just a school skill.

"This event is for families of the Selinsgrove Area School District. Our SAES and SAIS students are invited to come and read books on the football field," explained Selinsgrove Elementary Principal Michelle Garman. "Literacy Under the Lights provides a unique opportunity for students and families to relax and enjoy reading while being in the stadium. Every year this event continues to expand allowing our students the opportunity to enjoy reading with families and other students," said Dr. Jason Schmucker, Selinsgrove Intermediate School Principal.

Students from kindergarten through fifth grade and their families were invited to bring a selection of their favorite books and a blanket to sit. Administrators, teachers, high school fall sports coaches and student athletes, band members, and honor's choir visited families sharing their favorite stories as well. High school students act as role models to the elementary students by emphasizing the importance of reading.

DAR Hosted Revolutionary War Commemorative Marker Dedication

By Kay Poeth

On October 10, 2021, the Conrad Weiser National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution hosted a dedication of a commemorative Revolutionary War marker at the Sharon Union Cemetery, one of the oldest existing cemeteries in Snyder County.

This Revolutionary War Commemorative marker was placed at the Sharon Union Cemetery by the Conrad Weiser National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution to recognize the service of these soldiers and patriots and "to keep alive what is special of this history."

On Sunday afternoon, October 10, the Conrad Weiser National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution hosted a dedication of a commemorative Revolutionary War marker. The ceremony was held at the Sharon Union Cemetery, one of the oldest existing cemeteries in Snyder County.

"There are approximately 21 Revolutionary War soldiers and patriots buried here. There are only a few visible grave markers remaining to mark the graves of these soldiers and patriots who helped achieve American Independence," noted Patty Wetzel of the Conrad Weiser DAR. "It is important to remember our heritage and commemorate the service of these patriots."

During the dedication, Regent Patty Wetzel stated, "Nothing is really ended until it is forgotten Whatever is kept in memory still endures... May this marker help to keep alive what is special of this history."

In attendance at the dedication were several local dignitaries and guests including U.S. Congressman Fred Keller, PA State Representative David Rowe, Snyder County Commissioners Joe Kantz and Chuck Steininger, former Snyder County Commissioner Lee Knepp, Selinsgrove Mayor Jeff Reed, North Central District Director Barbara Schmouder, fellow DAR Chapters, the Selinsgrove American Legion Post 25 and Selinsgrove VFW Post 6631 Honor Guard, John Moore, and Rev. Robert Doll.

Local Conrad Weiser NSDAR members included June Stark, Pam Panarese, Betty Schlingmann, Vice Regent Donna Culp, Susan Gift, Carolyn Sprenkle, Bobbie Jo Sprenkle, Regent Patty Wetzel, GerneyLee Carter, Sharron Eyer, Ann Russell, Mary Agnes Hackenberg, Sally Hayhurst, Margaret Keller and Linda Derr. Family, friends, and residents also attended the ceremony.

During the dedication the commemorative marker was unveiled. Then remarks were given by several of the distinguished guests. U.S. Congressman Keller (PA-12) thanked the veterans for all they have done so that we can appreciate our freedoms. He also thanked the DAR for teaching younger generations about our history.

Rep. David Rowe (R-85) acknowledged the critical role of monuments and their reminder to never forget those who paid the ultimate sacrifice to those who have served our country.

Selinsgrove Mayor Jeff Reed commended the DAR for their role in preserving history and promoting the legacy of our patriots.

Snyder County Commissioner Joe Kantz also recognized the importance of this Revolutionary War Commemorative marker as a reminder to people about the freedoms that they enjoy and to preserve our local history and to recognize those who defended our freedoms.

Lee Knepp also commended the DAR for their dedicated work to carry on the legacy of preserving and sharing history.

Guest speaker John L. Moore, author and storyteller, opened his speech by saying, "For many people, the American Revolutionary War was something that happened on such distant battlefields as Bunker Hill, Trenton and Yorktown." Then he spoke about the ferocious Indian war that took place all along the Pennsylvania frontier during the American Revolution. He noted, "Pioneer settlements in the Susquehanna Valley became frequent targets for Iroquois war parties sent by British military officers at Fort Niagara on Lake Ontario."

Moore noted, "There are approximately twenty-one Revolutionary War soldiers buried in the Sharon Union Cemetery. That's a sizeable number for a small cemetery in a rural Pennsylvania community. These soldiers include officers such as Colonel Peter Hosterman, commander of the Northumberland County Militia's 3rd Battalion, who helped defend the region against the Indians."

Moore concluded by saying, "The commemorative marker that the Conrad Weiser Chapter of the DAR is dedicating at the Sharon Union Cemetery today will not only raise public awareness of the American Revolution itself, but will also highlight the contributions that Colonel Hosterman and the other Revolutionary War veterans buried here made to The Cause."

Following the dedication, the DAR hosted a reception with an array of delectable refreshments.

The public can visit the commemorative Revolutionary War marker at the Sharon Union Cemetery located at 120 South Market Street in Selinsgrove.

Obituaries

Dennis Day Hackenberg, 73, Selingsgrove

Dennis Day Hackenberg, 73, Selingsgrove, better known as “Baldy”, entered into rest Wednesday, Oct. 20, 2021, at Evangelical Community Hospital, Lewisburg.

Baldy was born May 9, 1948, in Lewisburg, to the late John and Sarah Hackenberg.

He was preceded in death by his two brothers, Dale and Lynn.

He is survived by his eldest brother and sister-in-law, John “Eddie” and Carol; and numerous nephews and nieces. Baldy was married to his ‘partner in crime,’ Shirley, on May 27,

Baldy was a heavy equipment operator for several construction companies, retiring from Gutelius Excavating. He was well known for what he could accomplish on a bulldozer. He loved what he called ‘moving dirt’ and it showed. He made many friends along the way who admired the way he embraced life. Baldy was always kind, thoughtful, humble, made people feel special, always loved to have fun and sometimes broke the rules.

He was bigger than life and has left a hole in his family’s heart that can never be filled. He is dearly loved and treasured by his wife, Shirley; daughter, Kimberly; daughter and son-in-law, Chad and Lori; and grandchildren, Hanna, Erin and Owen — fondly nicknamed by their Pap — Gracie, Abby and Bubba.

He loved to travel, hear stories about his family, laugh and joke about it all, tease, hold hands, hug and make us all feel incredibly special and loved. He would never hesitate to help anyone and especially was always there to lend a helping hand to his family. Baldy has touched so many lives with his upbeat personality and laughter and will be sorely missed by many.

The family will hold a Celebration of Life to be determined at a later date.

Arrangements are by the Hummel Funeral Home, 574 Hill St., Middleburg.

It is hard to believe one year has gone by without you.

I thought of you today, but that is nothing new. I thought about you yesterday, and days before that too. I think of you in silence, I often speak your name. Now all I have are memories, and your picture in a frame. Your memory is my keepsake, with which I'll never part. God has you in his keeping, I have you in my heart. Death leaves heartache no one can heal, Love leaves a memory no one can steal.

Soil Health Toolbox Field Day Planned For November

-- The Snyder County Conservation District (SCCD) will be holding a Soil Health Toolbox Field Day on BDS Farms at 282 Troup Road, Beaver Springs on Wednesday, November 10, 2021. It will be held from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. with a free lunch provided. Farmers will learn about:

- How their farm’s “soil herd” can work for them.

A rainfall simulator will show farmers how different soil conditions effect soil runoff and soil infiltration. A soil scientist will guide attendees what to look for underneath the soil surface. Attendees will view a growing multi-species cover crop planted by the host farmers. Topics will be presented by the SCCD and members of the Pennsylvania Soil Health Coalition including the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, Stroud Water Research Center, USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and Penn State Extension.

SEDA-COG Programs At No Cost For Home Heating Assistance

With colder weather arriving, SEDA-Council of Governments (SEDA-COG) will again offer the Crisis program to residents who qualify for fuel assistance, the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP). This program repairs malfunctioning heating units at no cost.

Additionally, American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) stimulus funds will be used to offer a new service, the LIHEAP Clean and Tune Pilot program for residents. The goal of this program is to perform preventative maintenance services on residents’ primary heating equipment.

Residents should contact their local county assistance office to see if they qualify for these programs. They are being offered from October 18, 2021, through May 6, 2022.

From the personal desk of Joe Kantz

Dear Snyder and Union County residents,

I was blessed to grow up in Union Township, Snyder County. I love Snyder County and I'm honored to work for Snyder County as a Commissioner. Those who know me personally know how important honesty and integrity are to me in our elected officials. Because many folks have asked me questions about this year's Judge's race, I felt compelled to share with you the reason why I'm supporting Lori Hackenberg for Common Pleas Judge.

The one elected official who holds the most impact on our county budget is our Common Pleas Judge. I've worked with Lori Hackenberg over the past nine years and she has been a very responsible partner in her role as Magisterial District Judge. Her communication with the Commissioner's Office has been unmatched and her efforts to keep her office on or under budget each year has been a real help in keeping our taxes in check.

I've heard many people talk about the Democratic candidate, Brian Kerstetter. While my only personal experience dealing with him has been voting "No" when he came to the county Salary Board asking for a very large raise, over and above all the other employees, I don't approve of the tactics of those who are out campaigning for him.

Those of you who know me, know that I believe character is everything. Lori Hackenberg has the character to be a Common Pleas Judge. Lori is pro-life and pro-family. She and her husband, Jeremy, have been married for 22 years. I personally believe the commitment one makes to their spouse is one of the most important promises we make in life. Abusing that commitment and taking it lightly is not a sign of character. This is another reason I could never support Lori's opponent.

Those supporting the other candidate have made all kinds of accusations against Lori and quite frankly, I'm disgusted at all the lies. Lori is supported by all the elected officials you've already put into office for a reason; because she is the best candidate. While Lori is supported by some attorneys, she is not beholden to those who will have to practice and argue before her when she is Judge, which is a huge conflict for the other candidate. Again, I cannot sit by and do nothing. I cannot stand to see an honest person be maligned by those who are willing to make up lies about them that go unchecked.

Lori is endorsed by organizations who support the Second Amendment which is more important today than ever before. We need a Judge who will support our right to protect our families.

Common Pleas Judges are elected to ten year terms so it is crucial we elect a Judge who will administer justice fairly while watching out for your tax dollars. I know Lori will do this because she's proven it over the past nine years as a Magisterial District Judge.

In closing, I'm asking you to please support Lori Hackenberg on this fall's ballot for Common Pleas Judge. Our Justice system and your county tax dollars depend on it. Take it from a local person who has lived here all his life and only wants what's best for Snyder and Union Counties.

Sincerely,

Joe Kantz

The vests are heavy duty and will protect our guys when they are responding to emergency incidents or directing traffic for community events. Not just reflective, the vests have everything that is needed to hold their equipment when they are in the field and include armor for their protection.
