The Impact Of COVID-19 Crisis On Small, Local Businesses

The wildfire spread of COVID-19 has impacted every aspect of our lives and changed our daily routines from working at home, learning at home, and for some not working at all. The Stay at Home orders and travel for only essential business, food, and doctor visits are designed to flatten the curve. How are our small, local businesses surviving such dramatic and unforeseen changes during this crisis? Ritter Feeds in Paxtonville is considered a life-sustaining businesses. People still need to feed their animals. The hours of operation are the same as always. The employees are taking precautions to keep customers safe. Employees are practicing social distancing from customers and the protocol of washing and disinfecting. They Lysol the doors and counters throughout the day. They are using hand sanitizer and are not requiring customers to sign credit card receipts. Employees are encouraged to wash their hands

IGA Central Market in Middleburg is also an essential business and is open for customers. Across the region and nation some products are limited or unavailable because of the stockpiling and demand. Some of the supplies such as toilet paper, bread dough, yeast, pasta, and pasta sauce are limited. Prices of other products have risen when suppliers increase the price. Some Lysol wipes and cleaning products are not currently available.

Delivery trucks are arriving regularly but warehouses are allocating products. "We are never sure what will be delivered or what will be out-of-stock," said one employee.

The initial stockpiling and hoarding seems to have subsided. People for the most part are being more moderate. "We are seeing regular customers more often and new customers are stopping to shop. Some are going store-to-store to see what they find," said Chris App.

IGA Central Market is taking precautions to keep both their employees and customers safe. Throughout the day they are disinfecting the shelves, door handles, counters, and carts. The employees are wearing gloves and masks. Plexiglas has been added to the checkout areas. The checkout area is wiped after each customer. The aisles are marked with lines allowing for the 6-foot social distancing between customers. They are trying to open only every other register to allow for more space between customers. After closing, the store is again thoroughly disinfected.

IGA Central Market in Middleburg has adjusted its hours. The store is open from 9 am-6 pm, Monday-Saturday. Closed on Sunday.

Miller Travel Agency in Middleburg has also been impacted by the crisis. Amie Miller reports, "As you probably guessed, the majority of our clients have travelled worldwide prior to and shortly after the outbreak. We made the very difficult decision to discontinue walk in appointments prior to the Governor's order to close the physical office. We are now operating via email only, but we have seen a substantial increase in bookings for 2021. The majority of our clients booked this year have elected to reschedule for Looking on the bright side, Miller notes that people now realize the benefit of having an agent by their side during these difficult times. "Unlike the big online travel companies who were not able to handle the massive cancellations, we walked each and every client through options and they only needed to call us, not be placed in long ques or ever busy phone numbers. We are so very grateful to our local clients who have made it possible for us to weather this crazy storm! We would not be here without them and are moved by all the local support we have received.'

Tom's Eatery at Fox Crossing in Mt. Pleasant Mills is serving delicious country comfort food to its customers. Owners Roger and Sue Sheesley say, "We are very fortunate that we are able to work out of our concession trailer because it has window service. When our business first opened in 2016, we operated a take-out business from the concession trailer. So, during this current crisis we have gone back to basics.'

Tom's Eatery at Fox Crossing open Wednesday-Sunday from 11 am- 8 pm offers a full menu depending on avail-

The Snyder County Times and The Union County Times are also affected by the pandemic. According to owner Susan Weaver, "If the businesses are closed, we are losing their advertising and we have lost a lot! During this time of crisis, Weaver is relying on saving to keep the paper going and to keep up with the expenses of mailing, printing, employees and office expenses. "I am mainly here to help the community. That's our job!'

The office has a small staff and they are working only at their own computers. They are staying the recommended 6 feet away, washing hands, and using the hand sanitizer at their desks.

The hours of operation are the same: Monday-Wednesday from 8 am- 4 pm and Thursday from 1-4 pm but the employees are experiencing shorter hours with some leaving earlier on certain days. (Note: Kay Poeth, reporter, always works from home and currently is not covering events. She depends on the public to send her neighborhood news.)

Eva Linke of The Tack Room in Vicksburg is another small business affected by the COVID-19 crisis. Sorry for the delay. She states, "We are shipping and doing curbside pick-up. Our door is closed to the public." Visit their website at: www.tackroominc.com or call 570-966-4999

The Tack Room is able to ship per the business listing for electronic and mail order sales. Employees are cleaning in the event that someone touches something

The New Norm For Midd-West Education

Mrs. Jennifer Straub prepares to teach a lesson at home in her

The Midd-West School District sent a text message and posted a message on its website about the continuing education of students. The post states, "Starting Monday, March 30, the Midd-West School District will be offering a mobile, online learning platform in an attempt to allow our students to maintain critical skills they learned in their courses. Additionally, online activities will be used to stay connected and extend our students' learning into many content areas. This undertaking represents a monumental shift in how we educate students in grades K-5. Rest assured, our teachers and staff are developing and finding new and creative ways to educate students. We are offering these opportunities for students because it is the right thing to do during these unusual times. We strongly encourage your child to participate with the extension and connection activities that will be provided in Sapphire on Monday!

We understand that all households do not have internet access. For those students we can provide activities so they are not limited by technology. If your household does not have internet, please call the school your child attends and leave a message for the secretary. We will mail activities to the address we have on file. Also, if you do not have internet, but can get a Verizon Wireless signal, we could possibly provide you with a Wi-Fi hotspot. When leaving a message, please indicate your desire for a hotspot. These will be on a first comefirst serve basis as devices become available.'

In the Midd-West District, students in grades 7-12 currently have computers that they use and take home. According to Joseph Stroup, Director of Curriculum, "We attempted to distribute to all elementary and middle school families. Over the course of the last week, we had many staff members assist in distributing machines to families that had a need. We will also be distributing hot spots from Verizon to families that need them as they come into the district. This will be a slow process as Verizon is finding it difficult to keep up with the demand."

Mr. Stroup also explained that the staff has been planning and preparing to provide online content beginning the week of March 30. "Though high school and middle school teaches have been providing content in this manner for quite a while, our K-5 teachers needed significant training to allow this to happen. We have been using many of our skilled teachers across the district to provide these trainings virtually so that all staff members have the skills necessary to provide virtual learning." Then he added, "It was a total team effort from the building principals, to their teachers, and their support staff. This could not have been accomplished without everyone's help and dedication!"

The Midd-West School District virtual learning platform will consist of review, connection, and extension activities. It will serve to keep the students actively engaged in their learning. Teachers will provide feedback and feedback is a part of the various programs students will be using.

"Content that is provided to student in this online format will be retaught once school is in session once again," said Stroup. "We are hoping for a return to normal sooner rather than later, but we are prepared to do this for several more weeks if necessary.'

Third marking period report cards for grades 1-12 are available. able in Sapphire. Kindergarten report cards have been mailed. Progress monitoring reports were either mailed or emailed.

recommends that all Pennsylvanians wear a mask any time they leave their homes. Here is an easy to make mask that requires a handkerchief, hair ties or rubber bands and a coffee filter or paper towel. The instructions are as follows:

1. Start with a handkerchief and two hair ties. Rubber bands are okay as well, although they will be less

2. Fold the handkerchief in half, along a horizontal axis, and make a nice crease.

3. Place piece of paper towel or coffee filter at the center of the handkerchief. Fold the top down and the bottom up, so that the coffee filter or paper towel rests in the 4. Place your first elastic about one-third of the way in from the edge of the handkerchief. Place the second elastic one-third of the way in from the other side. The two elastics should be about one hand-width apart.

5. Fold the left side in toward the center and then fold the right side in toward the center, tucking the right side into the left-side flap.

Using and taking care of your mask: • Don't wear it at home, and don't wear it in the car, unless you're with people outside your regular family group. Don't wear it more than necessary – just wear it when you're in a public place, like a supermarket, where you might be within 6ft of people. It may not be necessary in a park or on a quiet street with few pedestrians, when • Don't remove the mask until you're at home or in a place where you can wash your hands and avoid coming within 6ft of other people. When you do remove the mask, avoid touching the front of it in case you breathed in infected droplets that could now be there. Remove and dispose of the paper towel insert.

Place the rest of the mask in soapy water, soak it for two minutes, then wash and rinse. Any kind of soap - dish soap, laundry detergent, hand soap - will do. Then wash your hands, and disinfect with bleach or alcohol anything you touched after taking off the mask. Never reuse a mask without washing it first.

• Next time you wear the mask, remember to replace the paper-towel insert.

 If you have symptoms – a stuffy nose, a cough, a fever – stay inside.

Dear Editor.

school taxes (gas, state personal income and sales taxes, earned income tax on workers and occupational and per capita taxes) out of your wallet while the wealthy get wealthier and the rich get superrich? This is exactly what has happened since the 1980's when the top federal income tax rate was decreased from 70% to current 15% on capital gains, 21% on corporate

Are you tired of paying the lion's share of these regressive state, county and local government and public earnings and 37% on ordinary income while federal aid to lower levels of government and public schools was cut. This has caused significant tax increases for working class Americans in order to maintain public schools and services at lower levels of government. Did you know that ALL income was taxed by the federal government at more than 90% during the 1940's, the 1950's and early 1960's? Budgets were balanced, and the national debt was less than $1 trillion when the interstate highway system was completed. If you are tired of paying these unfair regressive taxes, then request your State Representative and State Senator to support a State Constitutional Amendment to allow a graduated income tax in Pennsylvania for all levels of government and for public school districts to levy higher rates on the well-to-do and vice versa. In order to balance budgets, the fairest progressive tax for the majority of Pennsylvania taxpayers is a graduated income tax.

David L. Faust, Selinsgrove

Dear Editor,

Thank you Mr Farnham for your comments about churches. Sometimes people are just devoid of understanding. That goes for everyone. Christians gather together each week for several reasons. The church building is nothing more than a place to hold a certain amount of people, for a certain reason, it is not a club, it is not private, and everyone is invited. The first and most important reason we meet is to worship our Lord, and to hear His words from the Bible, and then go put them into practice. Some call themselves Christians, and don't follow what they just heard. The second reason we meet, is to see our Church Family, we call them our brothers and sisters, because we Gather each week for the same reason. We lift each other up in prayer, we encourage those going through hard times. Christians should obey the laws of the land, but when those laws go against God's laws, then we must stand against those laws. Otherwise, we are instructed to obey those in authority over us, which in this case is the governor of Pa. We are facing something which has no cure, as of yet. It is four times more contagious than the flu. Am I fearful about this virus, not at all! So why do I adhere to the governor's request? "Thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself." Mt 22:39. That is a very high standard, to love our neighbor as ourself. It is my neighbor who I love, that I do it, and everyone is my neighbor. Some people know Jesus's teachings, but don't adhere to it. Only at the time when Christ returns will He gather the TRUE believers to himself. Mt 13:30. Christians are sinners just like everyone else, but are saved by God's Grace, and have decided to follow Jesus Christ, and His promise to us is Eternal Life. We have something to look forward too.

My Experience At The MACC Food Distribution

Thumbs up to the volunteers at the MACC for their dedication to serving the community during the weekly drive-thru food distributions. On March 24, this reporter arrived early for the weekly food distribution at the Middlecreek Area Community Center. I was directed to a parking spot in the nearby ballfield. I glanced at my clock. It was 1:10 pm. The MACC parking lot was already filled as well as the former M&T bank lot, the church lot, and soon the ballfield lot.

Since it was a beautiful spring day with the temperatures in the 50's I rolled down my window and greeted the people in the car beside me. Since I had a while to wait, I turned off my car. After a bit I got out of my car and stretched my legs, walked over to the run, and crossed the little covered bridge. Finally, 1:30 pm arrived and the cars began moving. It was a very orderly procession. Everyone was polite as we waited for our parking group's turn. Alas, we were last.

I decided to start up my car. Lo and behold, the car wouldn't start. Dead. Nothing. In a panic I called my husband. I want to thank the gentleman beside me who tried to help. A former West Beaver student of mine, Zachary Brittain, offered to jump my car! I so appreciate your kind offer.

After waving at several red cars (at least I had the right color), my husband soon arrived with a battery jumper in tow. We quickly switched cars since the line was beginning to move. No, I did not jump line, just took my place in line in a different colored car. My hubby headed for home with his fingers crossed that he wouldn't be stranded along the way.

As I neared the MACC, the registration took less than a minute with a couple of questions. The whole process was streamlined. As cars rounded the corner, drivers were reminded to pop their trunks. Volunteers then directed clients to a certain loading spot. As soon as the car stopped, volunteers placed the boxes in the car. In about 3 minutes from registration, I was headed for home. The food donations were generous.

I was impressed with whole operation. Thumbs up to the volunteers at the MACC for such dedication to serving the community.
